PAIR QUIZZED IN MURDER PROBE

Girl and Boy Questioned in New Brunswick Case

BODIES FOUND BY COUPLE

Investigators Learn of Former Visits to Phillips Farm

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — (United Press) — Pearl Gahmer, 15, was quizzed in jail here today by authorities who are probing the murders of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. James Mills, choir leader of the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

The girl, together with Raymond Schneider, 19, found the bodies under a gnarled apple tree a week ago last Saturday. It was they who gave the alarm to the police that the missing couple had been found.

The girl was not arrested in connection with the murder, it was announced. Her father asked authorities to lock her up, charging that she was incorrigible.

NOT FIRST VISIT

Thru the cross-examination of the girl and young Schneider yesterday, it was learned that the day the bodies were found was not the first time that the two had visited the deserted Phillips farm.

They had been there, Prosecutor Stickler said, two days before—the night that the Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills disappeared and were shot to death. The couple said they were on the farm between the hours of 8 and 9 30, but did not see the rector or his choir leader.

Schneider was not detained by police, but allowed to return to his home. He is to be quizzed again today.

The girl spent the night in the keeping of Mrs. Puerschner, matron of the jail and wife of the warden. On next Friday, she is to be arraigned in children's court on the complaint lodged against her by her father, Nicholas Bahmer.

THEORIES ADVANCED

The renewed examination of the girl and young Schneider would indicate that authorities, having once made the rounds of all persons who may have been able to throw light on the mystery, had decided to start in anew.

These three theories were advanced today:

1—That the rector and his singer were slain by blackmailers whom they had gone to the farm to meet. In this connection, it was conjectured that perhaps the torn letters, said to have been love epistles—had been stolen by the blackmailers and were to have been delivered to the Rev. Hall for a sum of money he is known to have had on his person.

2—That crime was committed by a jealous woman, who resented the attentions that the Rev. Hall was paying to the pretty wife of the church sexton.

3—That the two had gone to the farm and had been surprised by robbers, who, after a struggle killed the pair and robbed the clergyman.

Sprague's wound is but slight.

INJUNCTION MAY BE APPEALED

Rail Men Consider Asking Review of Order

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) —Qualifying his statement with the assertion that a course of action had not been definitely determined, Donald R. Richberg, counsel for the railway shop crafts, indicated today that the next step in the shopmen's fight against the Daugherty injunction would be a petition to the United States circuit court of appeals for a review of Judge Wilkerson's order.

Mr. Richberg indicated that his argument today on the formal entry of the order would be only a perfunctory protest against the injunction.

Judge Wilkerson's court and the United States railroad labor board shared in the interest of the railway world today with the opening of hearings on the petition of 15,000 signal men for an increase in wages. The signal men's wages were cut July 1, by the board at the time it slashed the pay of the shopmen, but the signal men did not join the July 1 walkout. The strike vote was held in abeyance when they were granted the rehearing set for today.

The July 1 cut in the signal men's wages ranged from five to seven cents an hour. Forty-two railroads and their subsidiaries are parties to the hearing.

PLAN OF WETS IS EXPLAINED

Statement Tells Why Beer and Wine Are Sought

CLEVELAND — (United Press) —Why the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment wants the state constitution amended to permit sale of light wines and beer was told today in a statement issued by Frederick W. Marcolin, Ohio secretary.

The statement followed arraignment of the association's campaign by George C. Southwell secretary of the Dry Maintenance League, from the pulpit of the Lakewood M. E. church Sunday.

These reasons are given by the association:

That it would return the legal use of mild and healthful beverages in homes.

That it would limit the market of the poison-peddling bootlegger.

That it would protect from prosecution for possession of cider or home-made wine or intoxicating liquor lawfully acquired, not intended for sale.

That it would protect "your home and property against illegal invasion and research."

That it would give honest enforcement, "not dishonest persecution under prohibition laws."

That it would help to "bring peace and good will into Ohio to replace the unrest and discontent of today."

"To curb unwarranted legislation and to prevent violation of guaranteed rights in the home which the people at no time have surrendered, are the main objects of this proposal," the statement said.

"Neither prohibition of non-intoxicants nor making mere possession of intoxicating liquors for personal use a statutory crime was ever intended or authorized by the people under state or federal constitution."

LIMA MAN DRIVES DEATH MACHINE

Lawrence McClure and Mrs. Mary Hall Die Instantly

AGED MAN MAY NOT RECOVER

Accident Occurs at Crossing Near Ft. Wayne

While on their way to Moon Lake, near Columbia City, Ind., with a party of eight to attend a golden wedding anniversary, Lawrence D. McClure, 31, of 800 N. Jackson-st, and Mrs. Mary Hall, 68, Lafayette, were instantly killed when an eastbound Ft. Wayne, Van Wert & Lima traction car crashed into their auto at the New Haven-av crossing, Ft. Wayne, at 9:45 a. m. Sunday.

Joseph Hall, 73, husband of the dead woman, is in a serious condition at a Ft. Wayne hospital, suffering from severe gashes on the forehead and fractured ribs. He is not expected to live, according to information Monday morning.

Four of the party in another machine escaped death by a narrow margin when their auto whisked across the tracks a few seconds ahead of the interurban car. This machine contained Mrs. Caroline McClure, mother of the dead man, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weim and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Weim, of Spencerville.

AUTO CARRIED 300 feet

The second machine, following several yards back of the other, was driven squarely in the path of the oncoming traction car by McClure. It was carried more than 300 feet.

McClure and Mrs. Hall were dead when picked up and the aged man was removed from the wreckage by Sheriff Abbott of Allen-co, Indiana, who happened to be on the scene of the accident. Hall was rushed to a Ft. Wayne hospital.

The party was assembled early Sunday in Lafayette, Spencerville and Lima to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of Mrs. McClure's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. McKinney, of Troy, Whitley-co, Indiana.

A gala event had been planned and the Ohio party was to complete a gathering of 150. The two machines were loaded with picnic baskets.

CAR MEN NEAR COLLAPSE

Motorman Kersh and Conductor Gustav Geisler, also of Ft. Wayne, were on the verge of collapse after the accident. They declared their car was proceeding at a rat of 40 miles per hour, making it extremely difficult to stop with the few feet separating it from the ill-fated automobile.

The bodies were mangled almost beyond recognition. Mrs. Hall had her neck broken and suffered two fractures of the ribs in addition to internal hurts.

McClure's skull was fractured and his back crushed. He was the sole support of his mother and sister.

A Ft. Wayne undertaking firm took charge of the bodies and arrangements were to be made Monday to bring them to Lima.

CARRIED NEWS' INSURANCE

Lawrence D. McClure, who was killed Sunday at Ft. Wayne in an automobile accident, carried Lima News travel accident insurance. His estate will receive $1,000 from this insurance. The policy, which he took out last December, cost him 75 cents.

Angora Government Declares Allied Invitation to Conference Cannot be Accepted—Object to Terms Laid Down in Note—Army's Advance to Continue

Greeks Riled at Proposal Also—Will Not Give Up Thrace, Athens Says—British Government is Criticised by English Press

PARIS — (United Press) — Kemalist cavalry has penetrated the neutral zone south of the Dardanelles, it was semi-officially reported here today.

• • •

CONSTANTINOPLE — (Associated Press) — Hamid Bey, representative of the Angora government in Constantinople, declared today the allied invitation to the peace conference could not be accepted by the Turkish Nationalists on the terms laid down.

"We cannot accept the allied terms because they propose to demilitarize the sea of Marmora and part of Thrace, which would prevent us from bringing our troops from Asia to Europe," said Hamid in a statement to the correspondent.

"Neither can we accept literally the condition that our army shall not advance while the peace conference is progressing. This would so circumscribe our movements that the enemy would have ample opportunity to prepare forces for a fresh attack and would give the allies a chance to complete their land and naval reinforcements in the event the conference failed.

"Regarding the straits we have already admitted freedom for the passage of all vessels thru the Dardanelles but we are not prepared to define in what authority or body the control shall be vested. That question must be settled at a conference between the Turks and the allies.

"We also insist that all nations having commercial, military or other interests in the Dardanelles including Russia and Bulgaria, shall participate in the conference.

"We further insist that Great Britain shall suspend all naval and military movements in the straits during the course of the conference."

GREECE OBJECTS

ATHENS — (Associated Press) — Spurred to greater effort by the popular clamor for its resignation, the cabinet of Premier Triantafillakos is developing unexpected cohesion in strength.

It has added new members to the ministry, chosen with the view to brin it popular support; has appointed General Papoulas, governor general o. Thrace and has designated three popular generals to proceed to Thrace and push the work of reorganizing the army there.

Meanwhile a note from the allied powers disclosing their communication to Mustapha Kemal Pasha acceding to his conditions for peace has reached the foreign office and has had the effect on the Grecian people of a frigid and undesired shower bath The powers in their communication merely informed the Greek government of their action.

Greece is not looking for more trouble, said one official today, but she intends to go right on with the task of building up her army in Thrace.

In Thrace Greece is and in Thrace Greece will remain, is the watchword today of the Greek people.

BRITISH DISSATISFIED

LONDON — (Associated Press)— Enthusiasm for the Paris Near Eastern setlement is lacking in the press comment this morning, the tenor of most of the editorials being that it was the only way to avoid war and maintain agreement among the allies and therefore had to be adopted.

Most of the commentators sharply score the government and especially Prime Minister Lloyd George for mishandling the whole situation, with the result that Great Britain has suffered a "severe diplomatic setback after talking very big indeed."

ALLIED PLANS

CONSTANTINOPLE — (Associated Press) — —The allied high commissioners plan to meet today for the purpose of bringing together representatives of Greece and the Turkish Nationalists for the conference at Mudania at which the terms of an armistice are expected to be settled.

Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, commander of the American naval detachment in Turkish waters, will attend in the capacity of observer for the United States. The conference will examine the present military and naval positions of the belligerents with a view to immediate cessation of hostilities.

LONDON — Associated Press) — A Reuter dispatch from Athens says that Admiral Bristol has informed the Greek government that the United States will undertake to protect with destroyers the removal of the remaining 150,000 refugees at Smyrna if Greece provides the means of transport.

The Americans further undertake to provide shelter and sustenance for the refugees and they fix a limit of one week for their embarkation

The Greek government has accepted the offer

TURKS GET NOTE

CONSTANTINOPLE — (United Press) — The official allied Near East peace note was handed today to Hamid Bey, Turkish representative, here.

Christian populations were still uneasy today with the reports that the Kemalists were concentrating in the vicinity of Ismid, where Mustapha Kemal, their leader, had his headquarters.

The latest "war scare' that the Kemalists have invaded the neutral zone as far as Erenkoi, ten miles from Chanak had been satisfactorily explained today The Turkish troops were said to have invaded the region by mistake believing that the British had withdrawn

RUM MAY BRING ABOUT ROW

Threatens to Become Issue Between U. S. and Britain

QUESTION OF SEA AUTHORITY

Right to Search English Ships Presents Problem

(BY L. C. MARTIN)

WASHINGTON — (United Press) —President Harding and his cabinet this week will consider the tangled question of international rum-running which threatens to become an issue between the United States and Great Britain.

In addition to diplomatic negotiations with the British government, in an effort to bring about an understanding concerning this government's right to board rum-carrying ships flying the British flag, the cabinet may decide to ask congress for legislation at the special session in November more clearly defining the powers of the various departments with regard to illegal liquor shipments.

Not only is there a difference between this government and the British, but within this government itself a serious clashing of authority exists.

PLAN PROPOSED

At tomorrow's cabinet meeting, a plan of cooperation among government departments, to stop liquor smuggling will be discussed. This plan was worked out by a committee representing the departments of justice, labor, commerce and the treasury, all of which have something to do with the prevention of smuggling.

Immigration Commissioner Husband headed the committee. In his report, Husband pointed out that the Canadian and Mexican borders over which much smuggled liquor comes, are patrolled by six different government agencies, namely the United States public health service, the customs, the prohibition enforcement, the immigration, the coast guard and the federal horticultural services. Husband, pointing out that they all worked independently, urged the necessity for coordination of their personnel and functions so that an effective patrol against smuggling both of aliens and liquor can be maintained.

He suggested that the various patrolling agencies be given identical police powers so that any of them might be used against bootleggers.

INTERNATIONAL PROBLEM

The investigation by the departmental committee, showed, Husband said, that bootlegging along the Canadian and Mexican borders "rivalled the days when piracy was in full swing"

While the need for cooperation to stop the border traffic is thus being emphasized the international aspect of the problem, as represented in the negotiations with Great Britain, offered an even knottier problem. A reply from Great Britain to the recent American note suggesting a mutual arrangement for the search of suspected vessels beyond the three mile limit, was momentarily expected In official circles it was feared the British note would not be entirely satisfactory The British are understood to feel aggrieved on the case of the Steamer Onward, which the "rum navy" tried to board last week beyond the three-mile limit off New York. The British captain, turning his searchlight on the British flag dared the officers to come on. They retired. It was later explained by prohibition enforcement agents, that they did not attempt themselves to board the Onward, but sent a customs office authority to board the vessels beyond the three-mile limit. In some government quarters the question was being asked today why this customs officer, if he had authority to board the Onward, retreated in the face of the British captain's attitude.

GREAT POLITICAL SHAKEUP SEEN

Garrison Predicts Scrapping of Republican, Democratic Parties

NEW BODIES TO BE FORMED

Conservatives, Radicals to Constitute Opposing Factions

DENVER, Colo. — (Associated Press)—That the two great political parties in the United States are having difficulty to find an issue upon which they can differ materially and that the natural outcome of the situation is likely to result in the scrapping of the Republican and Democratic parties in favor of a new political lineup of conservatives and radicals, is the opinion of Lindley M. Garrison, former secretary of war. Mr. Garrison is here to attend a hearing in the United States district court.

DECIDED DIFFERENCE

"There is," Mr Garrison said, "a very decided difference of opinion among American people regarding our constitution. While I class myself as a conservative, I have no quarrel with that large and growing body of Americans who feel that this country has outgrown its constitution and the time for change in our form of government is here.

"A new political alignment is imminent in America—the conservatives of both parties against the radicals."

Mr. Garrison expressed the opinion that the new parties are not likely to make their appearance before the next presidential election. He also declared that the Democratic party is woefully weak in the matter of outstanding leaders, although he said he thinks that James M. Cox still has a considerable following and that William Randolph Hearst is a formidable figure in Democratic councils.

CLEVELAND MAN IS SHOT TO DEATH

Suspect in Mysterious Case Taken by Police

CLEVELAND — (United Press) — Circumstantial evidence today vied with the victim's dying statement to accuse a man of murder.

Carl Roxbury, 33, was shot in the back as he stood in front of a Quincy-av residence late last night.

A few minutes later a flying squadron arrested a man sitting on the steps of the house holding a smoking revolver.

Taking him at once to the hospital where Roxbury lay dying, a police officer led him up to Roxbury's cot

"Hello, Louis," Roxbury said.

"Did this man shoot you?" a police officer asked of the wounded man

"No," said Roxbury, "of course not,' and then he died

The man arrested, told police he had fired at a man who was climbing over his back fence. The revolver he held was a 44 calibre.

The bullet taken from Roxbury's body was a 38.

"Louis will be held for questioning, but of course, he cannot be charged with the murder" a policeman explained "Roxbury's dying statement makes that impossible."

Police say the case is one of the most puzzling with which they have had to deal for many months.

POWER RATES UP FOR PASSAGE

Final Settlement of Electric Problem Anticipated Tonight

Passage of the street railway grant and the schedule for electric power rates will be the main consideration at the meeting of the city commission Monday night

Absence of C A Bingham, city manager, from the city precludes the consideration of anything but routine legislation by the commission Aside from the power and railway ordinances only paving and small sewer legislation will be taken up.

Informal discussion of the deficit facing the city in 1923 may also be seen but nothing can be done until the city solicitor has had time to study the situation and discover ways and means for the raising of additional funds

Should the voters be asked to authorize an addition of one or two mills to the tax levy at the November election it will be necessary to have the legislation passed by October 7 in order to get the proposal on the ballot.

Return of Bingham to the city may be awaited by the commission before any action is taken in the effort to obtain needed funds, it was indicated Monday.

TAX MEETING WILL BE HELD IN C. OF C. ROOMS

WORLD CONFERENCE MAY BE CALLED SOON

BRUSSELS — An international conference to consider reparations, inter-allied debts and a loan to Germany will probably be called for early in December, it is learned. The Belgian government, while it has not been asked by the allies to issue invitations, regards the summoning of such a meeting as certain.

The December date was proposed so as to await the result of the Anglo-American negotiations for American debt funding to afford time in which to induce the United States to participate.

"DEEDS NOT DAYS" MARKERS OF LIFE, PASTOR TELLS ROTARY AT LUNCHEON

Deeds and not days are the true markers of a life well spent, Rev. D N. Kelley told members of the Rotary club at their luncheon Monday noon at the Hotel Norval.

Studies of the lives of great men show that life cannot be measured by years alone, Rev Kelley said, and that the work they did lives long after they have died.

Very few people can tell the ages of Roosevelt, Washington, Lincoln or Napoleon when they died but the deeds performed are known to every school child

On every hand opportunities present themselves whereby it is possible for all to make their lives worth while, Rev. Kelley pointed out and be remembered for something, rather than the number of years they lived.

Announcement was made by Ralph Austin, who acted as chairman in the absence of Edward Gordon of the meeting of the Ohio Association for Crippled Children in Cincinnati September 27 and 28.

Several soles by Harriet Kelley who served with the Salvation Army during the World War and who has just returned from Europe, were well received by the Rotarians.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:

I AM coming to you for advice almost as a last resort. I have been married about a year. My wife is naturally of a jealous disposition but of late she is almost insanely jealous without any cause whatever. In my profession I am meeting many women every day and now she demands that I give up my profession or she will leave me. What do you advise? Do you think if we would part for a while she would see her mistake?

WORRIED

IT grieves me greatly that you are coming to me only as "a last resort." However, I shall endeavor to overlook that sad fact and extend to you my sincere sympathy in your sad plight.

It is, indeed, unfortunate both for yourself as well as for your wife that she is possessed of such an unusually jealous disposition. I presume that you are confident that no time during your married career have you given your wife one opportunity to mistrust you or believe you to be unfaithful to her.

It would be perfectly ridiculous for you to yield to your wife's whims by giving up your profession. She should be sensible enough to see that such a thing would be utterly out of the question. Be patient with her and try to prove to her the ridiculousness of her demand.

Perhaps you have failed to continue to display some love and affection for your wife. Always be thoughtful of her and impress upon her that your love for her is as strong if not stronger than during the days of your courtship.

If "Lonesome" will be kind enough to consult the dictionary before writing to this column I shall be glad to answer his letter.

SHE THOUGHT THE END WAS NEAR

Now Relates in Signed Testimonial How Plant Juice Restored Health

IS HAPPY AND CONTENTED

"Magic is thee only word to describe Plant Juice for its wonderful work in my case which was a desperate one," said Mrs. Anna Boyer, of No. 236-A North Twelfth street, Reading, Pa., a prominent and well known lady of that city, in a recent conversation with The Plant Juice Man.

MRS. ANNA BOYER

"I had an attack of ptomaine poisoning about one year ago that nearly proved fatal," Mrs. Boyer continued. "The poison scattered thru my system. After doctoring for quite a while I was told that time alone would eliminate my trouble but it did not. I ate very little, only a bite now and then, and would have gas and pains in my stomach, terrific headaches and rheumatic pains. I was chronically constipated and at night would lie awake for hours as my nerves seemed dead.

"An abscess developed in my head, showing the bad condition of my blood. I tried and tried for a long time to find relief and finally became a stoic and concluded that my case was hopeless and would remain so until the end. Finally, a good neighbor told me, 'You must try Plant Juice. Just see how it has benefitted me.' I knew she had been benefitted by Plant Juice but as my case was so bad I believed nothing would help me.

"I had become so bad that I could hardly hobble about and had no interest in life. But my neighbor insisted that I take Plant Juice and finally brought me a bottle to try. To please her I began to take it and I can now honestly say that I owe my return to health to Plant Juice and to her.

"At the end of the first bottle I could hardly realize the change and was almost ashamed of how heartily I ate my food. The gas in my system has now entirely disappeared. I no longer suffer from bloating or pains; the color has returned to my face whereas before I was so wan and haggard. I have gained weight and once more am happy and contented.

"I was a little afraid that this benefit would be only temporary but after I had stopped taking Plant Juice for I feel that I owe my life to this remedy."

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

MORE ADVICE FROM BEAUTY CHAMP

Mary Katherine Campbell, who won the first prize and title of "Miss America" at the recent national beauty contest at Atlantic City, is attracting the attention of the whole country by her unusual beauty. This is her second article in which she discloses her beauty secrets to readers of The Lima News.

MARIAN HALE

BY MARY KATHERINE CAMPBELL
"Miss America"

WHAT beauty I have I attribute to health and to a sensible mother who taught me early to love exercise and out-door life and insisted upon early hours and regular food.

Nearly every girl I know is dieting—to get thin. That is, she is attempting to. And she makes her conversations revolve about calories and starches and vitamins and suffers acute remorse every time she eats a French pastry.

Yet I've never been able to coax one of these earnest dieters to get up early in the morning to take a swim or go for a horseback ride before breakfast.

LIKE BED TOO WELL

They don't want even a bowing acquaintance with the clock before 9:30 in the morning, and they never want to walk more than two blocks.

Now I confess, frankly and quite unashamedly, that I eat four meals a day—just ask my mother how hearty they are—regular man-sized affairs.

If I ever found myself getting too heavy I'd be inclined to go to a gymnasium or do a little extra exercise, rather than make my life one renunciation of everything I like.

Besides, I believe one needs plenty of good, nourishing food, and to try to get along on black coffee and dry toast when you want bacon and eggs is silly.

SWIMMING BEST EXERCISE

To my mind, no exercise compares with swimming. I keep that up summer and winter. In the spring and fall I ride horseback a great deal because it gets me out into the air.

I play tennis and golf in the summer for the same reason and dance the year round. I can motor, too, and I love to drive, but I never let this cheat me out of real exercise.

I take a quick, cold bath in the morning and a warm one in the evening. If my complexion ever seems to be getting pale or looks lifeless I drink orange juice and add vegetables and subtract meat from my menu.

Any girl is foolish, I believe, to go thru life handicapped by a poor complexion, but the way to get a good one is not by covering, or trying to cover what you have, but to eat sensibly and correct it from the inside.

I believe anyone who takes enough exercise out of doors will not be troubled with sleeplessness or pine for the excitement of after-theatre parties and dancing until dawn. That sort of thing is ruinous to beauty, as we all know.

Early to bed and early to rise isn't an original creed, but it's the best one I know to follow for health and beauty.

Tomorrow I'll tell you what I think about clothes, and what I aim to express in mine.

LEARN A WORD A DAY

TODAY'S word is—LUCUBRATION.

It's pronounced — lu-ku-bra-shun, with accent somewhat upon the first, but more strongly upon the third syllable.

It means—the act of working by artificial light; hence, "burning the midnight oil," or laborious study.

It comes from—Latin "lucubrare," to work by lamplight; originally from "lux" light.

It's used like this—"Judging from what one reads in the sporting prints, it would appear that the nation's undergraduates are more interested at present in the progress of their respective varsity football squads than in academic lucubration."

AMAZING FACTS FULLY EXPLAIN TANLAC SUCCESS

How 30,000,000 Bottles Were Sold in Less Than Eight Years. Big Pittsburg Druggists Enthusiastic — Thousands of Users Publicly Endorse it.

The tremendous demand for Tanlac continues unabated, ever-increasing. Millions have rallied to its standard unsolicited and thousands have given public endorsement. That the large druggists everywhere are enthusiastic over this sensation of the trade is evidenced by the letters received with orders. W. A. Hover & Co., wholesale druggists of Denver, Colo., writing under date of July 17, state: "We are submitting today our order for the fourth carload of your goods since April 1. Taking into consideration local conditions this demand is not only exceptional but alone in the record sales for proprietary articles in this section."

Ripley-Massingham Co., Pittsburg, Pa., state: "We purchased nearly 180,000 bottles of Tanlac from you in twelve months, and we and our customers are both very well pleased."

Since the first of the year it has been necessary to establish two new branch offices, one in New York and one in Los Angeles, and the large modern laboratories at Dayton, O., Walkerville, Canada, and Mexico City are working over-time but are still unable to keep up with the deluge of orders. Tanlac has been on the market less than eight years but more than 30,000,000 bottles have ben sold to date.

And the foreign field has been entered with the most phenomenal success. Mexico now knows Tanlac as well as the people of the United States and Canada, while Cuba has received the celebrated medicine with enthusiasm.

The reason for this amazing demand is found in one word: merit. No proprietary article could long survive the acid test of time and public trial if it did not possess real value and produce actual and positive results. It cannot depend merely on whirlwind advertising and 'first call' appeal. Back of Tanlac's unprecedented record in the drug trade is Tanlac's success in producing results, and when this fact is thoroly impressed there cannot possibly be any mystery in Tanlac's achievement in such a short time—the achievement of gaining the top of the heap and holding undisputed leadership over all preparations of its type ever produced.

CINDERELLA SALLY

A ROMANTIC RIDE

By Zoe Beckley

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Fleeing the insults of a new-rich mistress,

SALLY, an orphan, secures employment as assistant in a soda fountain. Her only pleasant memory is of STANLEY, young son of her former mistress, who has been kind to her. As she is walking one evening, a photographer asks to take her picture. She consents.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

When the town photographer saw Sally walking down the street the picture she made of freshness and charm roused in him a mixed appeal.

The roving bachelor saw a possible flirtation. The business man discerned a good advertisement if the picture showed the beauty and self-unconscious simplicity of its original.

The bit of artist in him longed to photograph her because she was pretty, whether it brought him anything or not.

At his invitation Sally sensed why he asked her. She did not object to the business motive—he would give her some prints in return. Nor did she shy at his impulse to portray her prettiness. What made her hesitate was the thought of personal complications.

Had she been the mere simple, country girl she would have refused from timidity, or accepted the invitation unthinkingly. She accepted, but not without thought.

She was determined to get ahead and nothing in life was worth achieving that had not its element of risk or difficulty. She'd cross her bridges when she came to them.

Martin posed her, full-face and profile, standing and sitting. Then, with the business and art of the situation disposed of, he grew personal. He wanted to know about her, and wound up with an invitation to drive in his little rusty flivver.

Again had Sally a mixed motive to deal with. Martin was either a nice young man; or he was not. She shrewdly guessed he could be either.

She wanted to be friends with the nice side of him (she hadn't realized till then how she did long for friends!) and proceeded on the assumption that there was only a nice side to him.

They drove out along the river road, the young man eager, voluble, uncertain—but pleasantly so—as to what Sally understood by his friendliness. Sally was sunnily responsive, unsuspicious, ready to enjoy herself and him; and he was emboldened.

He stopped the car rather

HE TRIED TO KISS HER—ABRUPTLY, RATHER CLUMSILY

abruptly at a pretty, secluded spot beside the shining water, and leaned to her. His arm went about the back of the seat, then dropped to her slim shoulder. Sally stiffened, but before she could draw back he tried to kiss her—abruptly, rather clumsily.

For a moment everything threatened to turn dark and ugly—the flattering session in the studio, the prospects of mutual benefit, the exhilarating ride thru the country, the sweet picture of the river at sunset, the promising friendship. She averted her face quickly.

"Oh—Oh, don't, please! Why do you do that?"

Her frown and seriousness of manner disconcerted him.

"Because I—like you."

"Enough to want to see me again?"

"Of course I do," he began eagerly, then suddenly stopped. He was a muscular, lusty young fellow, and this girl beside him was slim and sweet.

She attracted him. They were alone. She had entered the situation with her eyes open. Besides—girls liked you to be firm with them.

He sat back while a struggle took place in him.

IMPROVED STREET CAR SERVICE

INDICATIONS are that Lima will have a rejuvenated street car system within a few months. The city commission is expected to pass a new franchise which will permit a new company or a reorganization of owners of the old, to put the system on an efficient basis.

We have seen the old cars trundling over the bumpy, crooked tracks so long and have heard so much about new cars and better service that many have begun to doubt that they are even a remote possibility.

Lima's street car company has suffered the same fate as those in hundreds of other cities. The automobile has taken the life out of the business, yet such service is well nigh indispensable. One has only to stand on a corner and watch cars pass to see why there is no money in operation. Except during the morning and evening hours when men and women are going to and returning from work there is scarcely any indication that the cars are used. And the morning and evening rushes are not what they once were.

Lima must keep its street car facilities. It is to be hoped that the new company can revive business to such an extent that it can give first class service. New cars are to be placed on all lines and an effort made to rehabilitate the property. It is a big task. The average man can realize what is before any street car concern by asking himself whether or not he would invest money in its securities.

This city with its rapidly expanding industrial life cannot dispense with car service. Neither can it expect a concern to operate without revenue.

YOUR POWERS

LULU M. CARGILL, clerk in the New York postoffice, takes from Nina E. Holmes of Detroit the title of "champion letter sorter of the world."

Miss Holmes attracted attention by sorting 20,610 letters in eight hours, or nearly 43 a minute.

Miss Cargill sorts 30,215 letters in eight hours, which is better than one a second. And she sorted the first 23,500 letters without pausing. Then she stopped for a cup of tea.

Sorting a letter means picking it up, reading the address, recalling the postal route to reach the address, then tossing the letter into the proper bag.

Miss Cargill is 26 years old. She has been a postal clerk only three years.

Miss Cargill, you reflect, must have wonderful co-ordination of body and mind. A brain that works with lightning swiftness has automatically perfect teamwork with a body that perfectly obeys her rapid brain.

The body is a collection of machines, each trying to work co-operatively for the good of all. It is a more perfect system of government than man has been able to devise.

MONEY

BANKERS check up and find that 26,637,831 Americans have savings accounts, better than one for each family.

The savings total around $17,000,000,000, which suggests that the proverbial thrift of the French may lag behind ours.

American savings accounts are twice as much as the total amount of money in circulation, plus all our gold. And more billions are banked in commercial or checking accounts. Apparently each dollar shows up several times as a bank deposit. Frequently we deal with credit when we think we're handling the actual cash.

JOKES

MARVELOUS discovery— something interesting about the tariff. Leeches are on the free list, after much debate. So is ice.

Volcanic lava in the raw state can be imported without paying duty, but a tariff levy is tacked on if the lava has been converted into sandpaper or other useful forms.

Eggs of fish and of wild birds and insects are on the free list. So are dog-bones, joss-sticks, and horsehair. The tariff-makers evidently considered everything that can come into America except air, rain and shadows.

PEST

PLAYING a phonograph in the doorway of a store, to attract trade, annoys a gentleman in Suffolk, Mass. He has a retail shoe store across the street from the talking machine, and goes to court when the canned music sets its nerves on edge

The judge agrees that continual music is a nuisance, and makes the phonograph owner put on the soft pedal.

Injunctions against unnecessary noise will be common a few years from now in cities. Noise more than hurry, is what makes city dwellers nervous.

A famous and powerful woman rises in the orient. She is Halide Edib Hanoum, the "Turkish Joan of Arc."

Halide is highly educated, magnetic, with a romantic career that includes exile, triumphant escape and a return to the leadership of her armies.

This woman probably soon will figure in newspaper headlines. Most interesting thing about her is that a beautiful Turkish woman now can have a "career," instead of being enslaved in the harem. Emancipation of woman is reaching into the most remote places of the earth.

YOUR HEALTH

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL

BUSINESS OF COOKING

(BY DR. R. H. BISHOP)

Cooking is a most important art, but some foods, when cooked, lose certain small vitamins.

Vitamins exist in the coating of grains, especially rice, in the yolk of an egg, in raw milk and in fresh fruit and fresh vegetables, especially peas and beans.

These vitamins are very important to the well-being of the body.

Some raw or uncooked foods, such as lettuce, or tomatoes, celery, fruits, nuts and milk should be eaten, to supply vitamins, which are destroyed by prolonged cooking.

Not all foods can be taken raw with advantage. Most starchy foods, such as cereals and potatoes and unripe fruit, must, of course, be cooked before they are fit to eat.

Foods that are consumed raw should be thoroly washed

The mineral matter in vegetables often is lost by cooking too long. It is cooked out of the vegetable into the water it is in This may be counteracted by using the water after the vegetable has been cooked, for soup. Potato water can be used this way, especially when the potatoes are inclined to break up and dissolve.

Cabbage and cauliflower should be cooked just long enough to make them tender, but not long enough to make them brown or yellow.

The one thing we don't recommend Blue Devil for is cleaning teeth, yet some people say they like it.

A bit of the brute and a bit of the god,
A bit of the sky and a bit of the clod
A little of velvet, a little of steel,
Of dross, and of gold as the test may reveal:
A trace of the baby, a lot of the boy,
A jigger of sorrow, a breaker of joy,
A strange contradictory puzzle to scan—
And that is a Man.

A bit of the serpent, a bit of the dove
A bit of deceit and a great deal of love,
A wisp of the mist and a pinch of the dust,
A trace of the feline—unstable to trust;
A large slice of heaven, a wee bit of hell,
Tho just which is which is a problem to tell;
A bit of supernal, a whole lot that's human,
And that is a Woman!

Dainty People

Now combat that film on teeth

Have you noted how many people now have whiter, prettier teeth? You see them wherever you look. The reason lies in a new cleaning method which millions now employ. If you don't know it, you should try it now.

Film is dingy

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it now. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. That film absorbs stains, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat film. So, under old methods beautiful teeth were less often seen than today. And tooth troubles, mainly caused by film, became almost universal.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So nothing is more important to teeth than combating the film daily.

Two ways found

Dental science, after long research, found two film combatants. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise them. Now careful people of some fifty nations employ them, largely by dental advice.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants were embodied in it.

Not film alone

But Pepsodent does more than fight film. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It thus gives manifold effect to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. The result, the world over, is a fast-coming new dental era.

Tell your child

You want your children to endeavor to avoid the troubles that you suffered. Then tell them of Pepsodent, show them its effects. Dentists now urge that children use it from the time the first tooth appears.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

That test will be a revelation. It will convince you that you and yours need this new-day method. Cut out the coupon now.

ALIAS THE LONE WOLF

CHAPTER XVII

The Champagne Bombardment

The next morning Lanyard lay luxuriously bedded and with a single problem to nurse.

What had her pillow advised Liane Delorme?

Liane was amply able to surprise him, and did.

It was without ceremony that she walked in on him at length.

"Well, my dear friend!" she said gravely, halting by the bedside, "do you feel able to travel?"

"Travel?" Lanyard made a face of dismay. "Are you then in such haste to be rid of me, Liane?"

"Not at all."

Liane found herself a chair and accepted a cigaret.

"And where do we go, mademoiselle?"

"To Cherbourg, there to take a steamer for New York."

Fortunately it was Lanyard's cue to register shock.

"But, my dear friend, why America?"

"You gave me credit for having some little influence in this world of Paris. I have used it. What I have learned enables me to assure you that the Montalais jewels are on their way to America."

"But if I am to sail for America today—"

"Tomorrow, from Cherbourg, at eight in the morning."

"How am I to get my passport vised?"

"I have seen to that. You are no longer Paul Martin alias Andre Duchemin, but Paul Delorme, my invalid brother, still suffering from honorable wounds sustained in the Great War."

Liane Delorme threw away her cigaret and rose. "You understand, we leave as soon as you are dressed?"

"Perfectly. By what train?"

"By no train. We motor to Cherbourg."

She was at the door when Lanyard stayed her with, "One moment, Liane! What about Dupont?"

Simple mention of the man was enough to make the woman wince and lose color.

"Well, and what of him?"

"Have you reflected that, since Dupont got in after you came home, his accomplice in your household is most probably one of those who were up at that hour. Who were they?"

"Only two. The footman, Leon and Marthe, my maid."

Lanyard said, "Open that door!" in a tone sharp with such authority that Liane Delorme instinctively obeyed. The woman whom Lanyard had seen that morning coming down the stairs with the lighted candle entered rather precipitately.

"Pardon, madame," she murmured, and paused. "I was about to knock."

Marthe hinted at rather than executed a courtesy and withdrew. Liane shut the door behind her, and reapproached the bed, trembling with anger.

"You mean to take her with you?"

"I did, until this happened."

"And now will you tell me that Dupont knows nothing of your intention to motor to Cherbourg today.

"No . . ." Disconsolate, Liane sank down into the chair. "Now I dare not go," she mused aloud. "Yet I must! . . . What am I to do?"

"Courage, little sister! It is I who have an idea." Liane lifted a gaze of mute inquiry.

"What automobile are you using for our trip this afternoon?"

"My limousine for you and me."

"And Marthe: how is she to make the journey?"

"In the touring car, which follows us with our luggage."

"Who drives the limousine?"

The woman hesitated, looked aside, bit her lip.

"As a matter of fact, monsieur," she said hastily, "it is the boy who drove us thru the Cevennes. Monsieur Monk asked me to keep him pending his return to France.

Lanyard had the grace to keep a straight face. He nodded gravely.

"Here is the plan. At the last moment you will decide to take Leon with you.

"Toward evening we will let the touring car catch up. We will exchange cars with Marthe and Leon, leaving the latter to bring on the limousine while Jules drives for us. Whatever happens then, we may feel sure the touring car will get off lightly."

• • •

It was four o'clock when the expedition for Cherbourg left the door of Liane's town-house. The limousine was leading with Jules at its wheel; the touring car trailing, with the footman, Leon, as driver.

In St. Germain-en-Laye Lanyard first noticed the gray touring car. It stood incongruously round the corner, at the door of a wine shop, the fat-faced man of Lyons was lounging in the door, sucking at a cigaret and watching the traffic.

Lanyard said nothing at the time, but later, when a long stretch of straight road gave him the chance, verified his suspicions by looking back to see the gray car lurking not less than a mile and a half astern; the Delorme touring car driven by Leon keeping a quarter of a mile in the rear of the limousine.

These relative positions remained approximately unchanged during most of the light hours of that long evening, despite the terrific pace which Jules set in the open country.

At about seven they dined from the hamper which, with Liane's jewel case in its leather disguise of a simple traveling bag, constituted all the limousine's load of luggage. Lanyard passed sandwiches thru the front window to Jules, who munched them while driving like a speed maniac, and with the same down with a tumbler of champagne.

A luminous lilac twilight vied with the street lamps of Caen when the limousine rolled thru the city. Lanyard conferred with Jules thru the window.

"Beyond the town," he said, "you will stop. I think it would be advisable to have a little engine trouble."

"Very good, sir," said Jules without looking round. Then he added in a voice of complete respect: "Quite so, sir. What's the idea?"

"I presume you set some value on your skin?"

"Plumb crazy about it."

"Mademoiselle Delorme and I are afflicted with the same idiosyncrasy. We want to save our lives, and we don't mind saving yours at the same time. In a gray car which has been following us ever since we left St. Germain, is the man who—I believe—murdered Monsieur le Comte de Lodgnes on the Lyons express, and who—I know—tried last night to murder Mademoiselle Delorme."

"And I suppose that, in his big-hearted, wholesaler's way, he wouldn't mind making a bag of the lot of us tonight."

"I'm afraid you are right. Our plan is to change cars with Leon and Marthe; the gray car will pass and go ahead before we make the shift; then you, mademoiselle and I follow in the touring car, the others in the limousine."

"Ah-h!" Jules used the tone of one who perceives enlightenment as a blinding flash. "Marthe and Leon are in on the dirty work, too, eh? I shan't shed a solitary tear if something sad happens to them in this 'bus tonight."

The plan was carried out in a suburb of Caen; the gray touring car tore by in a cloud of dust as Lanyard and Liane shifted to the touring car with Jules as driver.

Lanyard established himself in tonneau.

"How long, Jules, will Leon need—?"

"Five minutes, madame, if he takes his time about it."

They drew away from the limousine so quickly that in thirty seconds its headlights were all that marked its stand.

A bend in the road blotted out these lights. There was no taillight visible on the road before them. Lanyard touched Jules on the shoulder.

"Switch off your lights," he said—"all of them. Then find a place where we can turn off and wait till Leon and Marthe pass us."

Jules picked out the mouth of a narrow lane, stopped, and backed into it.

In four minutes by Lanyard's watch, a blue-white glare leapt quivering past the bend, and lay horizontal with the road as the car bored past.

The car swung out into the main highway. Far ahead the red sardonic eye in the rear of the limousine leered as if mocking their hopes of keeping it in sight.

They were swooping down a long grade with a sharp turn at the bottom, when somewhere on ahead, there sounded a grinding crash, the noise of a stout fabric rent and crushed with the clash and clatter of shivered glass.

"Easy," Lanyard cautioned—"and ready with the lights!"

Below, at the foot of the hill, the headlights of another car, standing at some distance and to the right of the road, furnished lurid illumination to the theater of disaster.

Something, its nature just then mysterious, had apparently caused Leon to lose control of the heavy car, so that it had skidded into a ditch and capsized. Four men were swarming round the wreck. Two were helping the driver out, two others having their gallantry in performing like service for the maid rewarded by a torrent of vituperative denunciation, half hysterical and wholly infuriated.

By the freedom of her gestures, which was rivaled only by that of her language, the disheveled, storming figure of Marthe was manifestly uninjured. And in another moment Leon found his feet and limped toward the others.

Lanyard drew attention to a dark serpentine line that lay like a dead snake upon the lighted surface of the road. Liane Delorme breathlessly demanded: "What is it?"

"An old trick," Lanyard explained: "A wire cable stretched across the road, about as high as the middle of the windshield."

He fondled the pistol which Jules had handed him: "Now before they wake up, Jules—give her all she's got!"

Jules released the brakes. They were making forty miles an hour when they struck the level and thundered past the group.

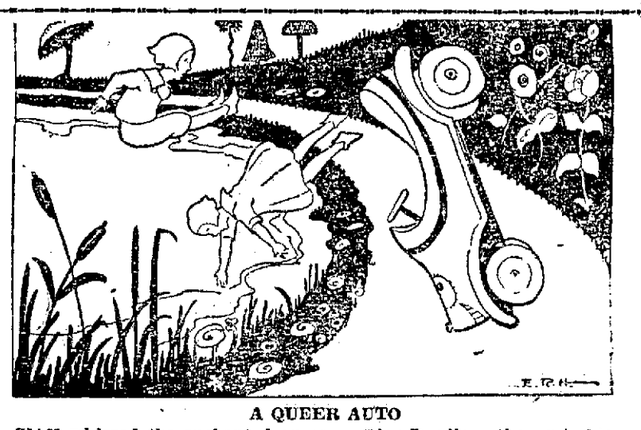
ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

A QUEER AUTOMOBILE

By Olive Roberts Barton



A QUEER AUTO

AWAY whizzed the enchanted automobile with Nancy and Nick inside.

You'd never guess that it was different from any other nice, new, shiny car, but it was different—oh, awfully different. For it wasn't a really truly automobile at all. It was Flap-Doodle, the mischievous fairy, who had changed himself into an automobile in order to get rid of the Twins.

He didn't want 'em round. And he didn't want 'em nebbing, as he called it. He knew they were hunting for the Fairy Queen's wand he had stolen, and that's why he wanted to get them away as far as he could.

"My!" cried Nick, "this is fun!"

"Oh, I could just ride on forever and forever and never stop once," declared Nancy happily.

Suddenly the automobile gave a jerk and a jump and turned over like a mud-turtle on its back.

Out flew Nancy and out flew Nick like beans from a bean-shooter.

Plop! Plop! They landed right together in a great puddle of squashy mud and sank down so far there was nothing to be seen of them but their heads.

"Help!" they cried, as soon as they found their voices. "Help! Help!"

But what do you think, my dears! The automobile turned back on its wheels and rolled calmly away as tho nothing had happened, never stopping even to blow its horn in sympathy.

But then that's not surprising considering that it had done it all on purpose.

No sooner had it turned the corner than the automobile turned into Flap-Doodle, the mischievous fairy, again.

"I hope no one helps those Twins this time!" he declared.

Making History.

INFANT MORTALITY in past ages has been something frightful, something almost beyond belief, and even today it occupies the time and the mind of leading physicians in all countries. The death rate among infants is being gradually reduced through new methods of hygiene, new preventatives and new remedies for infants. This reduction in the death rate has NOT been accomplished by adapting the precautions taken and remedies used by adults. Rather has it been to keep clear of the old methods, and choose after long research the precautions and remedies specifically applicable to infants.

This being so, is it necessary for us to caution mothers against trying to give her baby relief with a remedy that she would use for herself? Will she remember that Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for infants and children?

CASTORIA

Of Course You Love Your Baby.

You love it because of its very helplessness, because it can't tell you what is the matter when it feels bad. It can only cry and look to you for help. But the more you love baby, the more you want to help baby, the more you ought to realize what a wonderful remedy Fletcher's Castoria is. It has been used for babies' ailments for over thirty years.

An experienced doctor discovered Fletcher's Castoria especially for babies' use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Doctors who know what is safe and best for babies have only good to say of it.

Don't neglect your baby. Get a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and give baby a few doses of it. See how the little one smiles at you as if trying to thank you for helping it. Soon you will learn to depend on Fletcher's Castoria, made just for Infants and Children, and of course you would not think of using anything for them that was not prepared especially for Infants and Children. YALE, PENN STATE SHOW STRENGTH

NEW YORK—Displaying unusual early season strength the performances of Yale and Penn State were outstanding among the four larger eastern colleges, whose eleven kicked off in the opening games of the season.

Uncovering a powerful backfield attack led by Captain Jordan and a promising all-round combination, the blue eleven plunged its way to an easy victory over Bates, 48 to 0. Penn State was given nothing but a workout by St. Bonaventure, the final score being 54 to 0.

Replacing the other goal after touchdown, Saturday's play afforded an interesting test of the new rule permitting a try for point after touchdown. The new feature is a team effort whereas the former scoring attempt was an individual play.

In the Yale-Bates game Yale elected after each touchdown to try for a drop kick after the team lined up in front of the goal post on the five yard line. Six of seven attempts were successful.

GIANTS, YANKS NEED ONLY ONE APIECE

NEW YORK — New York's prospective world's series contenders, the Giants and Yankees, are separated today by the narrowest of margins from a dye-in-the-wood mathematically certain hold on the 1922 championships of the National and American Leagues.

The Giants can clinch the pennant for the eighth time since 1904 by winning only one of the two games scheduled with the St. Louis Cardinals today. They could then lose all seven of their games while Pittsburg won all three of its unplayed contests and still finish a game ahead of the Pirates, who are idle today.

YANKS NOT ON

The Yankees, as well as all other American League clubs, are not scheduled today. Leading St. Louis by three and a half games the Huggins need win but one of their four contests to settle the race. A defeat for the Browns in any one of its three contests would bring about the same result.

Both New York clubs lost yesterday. Rogers Hornsby's two home runs, which brought his season's total to 42, helped the St. Louis Cardinals down the Giants, 10 to 6, while Uhle outpitched Shawkey and Cleveland blanked the Yankees, 3 to 0, in the final game of their series.

BROWNS DEFEAT MACKMEN

The Browns, meanwhile kept mathematically in the race by defeating Philadelphia 7 to 4, while the Pirates gained a half game on the Giants by dividing a double header with Brooklyn. The Dodgers came from behind to win the first, 4 to 2, but lost the second, 11 to 3, when Pittsburg crossed the plate ten times in the sixth inning.

Detroit increased its third place margin over Chicago to a game and a half by trimming Boston 7 to 2, while the White Sox lost to Washington 5 to 4.

RIFLEMEN NOT BUSY TODAY

CAMP PERRY — A majority of the rifle men here for the National Rifle Association matches will rest today. Activities today will be confined to practice work for men who will take part in the National match to be shot Wednesday and Thursday.

The National small bore team scored a total of 7,685 in the International small bore team match. The winner will be announced as soon as scores of the three competing teams, England, Australia and Canada, are cabled from England, where the latter teams shot in an effort to defeat the United States team.

The match which is for the Lord Dewar trophy was won by the United States team last year with a score of 7,735, defeating the British team by 133 points.

D. W. Price, Iowa City, Iowa, won the registered shotgun tournament with a score of 128 out of a possible 128.

CARPENTIER SUFFERS FROM TERRIFIC BEATING

(BY JOHN O'BRIEN)

PARIS — Beaten almost beyond recognition, Georges Carpentier, former ring idol of France, tossed all night on his bed and in a delirious frenzy yelled for revenge and another chance against Battling Siki, the giant Senegalese heavyweight, who knocked him out yesterday in the sixth round of a fight scheduled for 20 rounds.

Ministrations of his doctors, his heart-broken wife and his faithful manager, Descamps, availed nothing. He wept and pleaded that arrangements be made immediately for another meeting with the black man.

No outsiders were permitted near Carpentier, but Dr. Martel, his physician, said that both his eyes were completely closed, his lips were swollen immensely, his nose was broken, a long gash was cut in his cheek, his right hand was fractured in two places and his left hand in one place.

UNABLE TO TALK

The effort to talk was obviously painful, but he persisted in punishing himself and refusing to heed the advice to remain quiet.

"I made the mistake of trying to study Siki in the early rounds. He got over a lucky punch and took all my strength away. I hit him with everything I had. He has wonderful powers of recuperation. His race is not made like mine," Carpentier said.

"Georges has himself to blame. He started playing with Siki at the beginning of the fight and it is bad to tease a panther," Descamps, his manager, said.

Siki, the wild man from Senegala, directed his eyes and his ambition to the United States today. The giant black French colonial announced his plans as:

"Jack Dempsey and any of them over there that want to fight."

STIR UP POLITICS

Grave political questions became a second issue in the excitement that held over from the battle between the former ring idol of the French nation and the previously disregarded "bad man" from the colonies.

After starting out as if he would be an easy winner, Carpentier was beaten almost into a pulp by the heavy hitting, wild swinging Senegalese. In the early rounds Georges dropped Siki opponent three times to his knees and he did not conceal his surprise that his huge antagonist failed to stay down for the count.

QUESTION OF TIME

Siki started the fourth round and from that time on it was just a question of how far Georges heart would carry him in the fight if he would have to give up. He went down from terrific body punishment and a hard right and left to the jaw in the sixth, Descamps claimed that Siki had tripped him. The referee, Bernstein, sustained the claim and declared Carpentier the winner.

Fifty thousand spectators in the new Buffalo stadium become as one in raising a tumultuous protest against the obvious attempt to take a victory away from a deserving winner.

Angry customers menaced Descamps and he had to seek safety in flight. Carpentier, helpless, was deserted in his corner. Gendarmes surrounded the referee and fought to keep back the mob, finally the judges obtained a hearing and peace was restored when it was announced that the judges would review the decision and return a verdict in 20 minutes. Not one spectator left the hall and an ovation was raised when the verdict was given in favor of Siki.

MISS HOLLINS WILL DEFEND GOLF TITLE

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — Almost perfect golfing conditions both as to weather and course prevailed for the opening play today in the women's national golf championship. Just enough absence of rain put the Green Brier links in prime condition.

Miss Marion Hollins, of the Westbrook, Long Island Club, is entered to defend the title which she won last year, while other leading players on the entry list include Miss Glenna Collett and Miss Edith Cummins, of Chicago.

SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR HARD GAMES

Coaches Burdette and Theibert at South and Central High schools will start Monday evening preparing their football teams for two of the most important games on the 1922 schedules.

For South will meet the strong Bluffton team here Saturday and Central is booked to go to Bucyrus.

Victories scored by the schools last week gave them much confidence, which will be evidenced in practice this week.

South has whitewashed two teams, Van Buren and Wapakoneta, scoring a total of 53 points, while Central's brilliant 6 to 0 victory over Sidney High, which held Dayton Stivers to a tie last season, has gone a long way toward inspiring confidence.

PIRATES EXHIBIT

The Pittsburg Pirates, runners-up to the New York Giants for the National league championship, will play an exhibition in Van Wert October 3, it has been announced. Arrangements have been made to accommodate 4,000 at the Van Wert park.

NEVER TOO WISE TO LEARN

TY COBB

(By BILLY EVANS)

NO MATTER how great one may be in any line of sport it is always possible to improve one's game.

In golf Walter Hagen typifies all that is worth while. He looks the part of a champion and plays it. Yet Hagen never is satisfied, he is always trying to add something new to his repertoire of shots.

In baseball Ty Cobb stands out as the greatest player of all time. Taking into consideration all departments of the game he is the ideal player.

ON BASES—AT BAT

There have been few greater baserunners than Cobb. While now he lacks some of his old-time speed, he still is figuring what is best to do when he reaches first base.

In the batting end of the sport, Cobb always has been pre-eminent. Since he entered the American League this prowess always has been a source of trouble to the pitchers. Constantly feared by them, he has been called on constantly to face the best pitching that could be offered. This has meant a series of duels of wits between Cobb and the pitchers, in which Cobb always has had the edge. In a measure psychology has triumphed, for Cobb has always feared the pitchers less than they did him.

USING A NEW STYLE

Most players with Cobb's ability at bat would have been content to rest on their laurels, but not Cobb.

This spring I noted that he was using a different style. I couldn't figure out the change, but realized that he was hitting at the ball in a different manner. I asked him about it.

The fact that Cobb is hitting better than .400 in his eighteenth year in the American League makes it seem as if his new style had helped some.

George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns is vieing with Cobb for the American League batting honors. Sisler is the greatest all-round player that has entered the American League since Cobb's arrival.

WITT IS BEST OF CENTER FIELDERS WHO MAY GET IN CLASSIC

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK.—Both of New York fall clubs made a blind grab in the bag and pulled out a centerfielder.

John McGraw had to have someone to take the place of George Burns, and when his expensive rookie, Ralph Shinners went wrong, he had to call on Casey Stengel, who had simply been the jester of the club.

The outfield of the Yanks has been notably punk for several years. Last winter the club owners tried to buy every center fielder in the league with the exception of Cobb and Speaker and they failed. Finally Connie Mack offered Whitey Witt for the waiver price and the Yanks grabbed him.

Witt can get around faster than Stengel, but he is not as dangerous with the stick as the Giant centerfielder. Stengel can break up a ball game any time with a long clout, while Witt's greatest proficiency is bunting.

The Yankee centerfielder, however, is not a mark for any pitcher. He is game to the heart, as he showed during the recent uprising in St. Louis.

Both Stengel and Witt are good money players but "Old Casey" is such a colorful player that he may turn out to be the hero of the series.

Day in and day out, however, Witt possibly is the best player, with Jacobson third.

SCHANG NEVER GETS CREDIT

NEW YORK. — When the game's greatest catchers are being discussed the critics usually mention Schalk, O'Neill and Perkins and let it go at that.

No one will dispute the class of that trio, but it cannot be granted that they are the only catchers in the game.

The Giants, the Yanks and the Browns all have catchers that are usually under-estimated. Wally Schang, Severeid and Snyder may not be the best, but they are valuable players.

Wally Schang has been catching long and so industriously he has worn the top of his head down to the scalp from jerking the mask off and on. He helped as much as any of the high priced stars they have in making the Yanks what they are.

Schang had one of his best years this season. He has been hitting hard, throwing well and working his head off to keep the team up in the race. For a man of his size, he is also a surprisingly good base runner.

Severeid the Brown receiver, is of the same type catcher as Schang, a hard, conscientious worker with more ability and class than he is usually given credit for.

Frank Snyder, the big catcher of the Giants is much slower on foot than either Schang or Severeid, but when he hits he has no trouble getting down to first because he hits 'em long.

Because he is practically the boss of the team on the field, Schang perhaps is the best of the trio. Severeid has it on Snyder only in that he is faster on the bases and after fouls.

INDEPENDENTS TRIM HOUSE OF DAVID

BEFORE a crowd of 3600 Sunday afternoon the Lima Independents hung a 14 to 3 defeat on the famed House of David ball club from Benton Harbor, Michigan, swatting three pitchers for a dozen safe hits and chasing around the paths almost at will.

It was one of the worst reverses suffered by the team this season the House of David manager declares. After playing a long series of low score games yesterday's bill was a big upset for the Michiganders.

Earl Berry heaved an effective horsehide for the Limaites, allowing but nine hits and getting five by the whiff route. He was not scored on until the fourth inning, whereas the local sluggers got to Gilbert, a big southpaw, in the first inning. He lasted barely three innings and was succeeded by Wolfe. The latter was touched up in lively fashion and retired after the sixth for Tally, left fielder.

MANY DOUBLES

Successive doubles by Harry Schwab new first sacker from Dayton, and Jack Shaffer, gave the Independents their first run in the opening inning, the visitors having gone down in one-two-three order in their half.

A base on balls to Fohlable and Sealts' double accounted for the second Lima tally in the second frame and a pair of two-baggers by Shaffer and O'Connell, Lima's stars of the day, produced a lone counter in the third.

The fourth inning was a procession for Lima after the House of David had marked up one on an error by Berry and hits by Baushke and Faust. Sealts was hit and Neu, Nichols, Schwab, Shaffer and O'Connell drew walks, the latter three promenading in succession off Wolfe's slants. All this wild stuff was interspersed by hits by Powell and Nichols and two errors by the catcher.

SEWED IT UP

The game was sewed up, but Lima continued hitting the balls and the House of David pitchers were wilder than a marsh hare. They gave a total of 12 walks, which were in the main responsible for the huge score Lima rolled up.

Every Independent except Berry participated in the hitting, Powell, a Daytonian who came up with Harry Schwab, being the only one, however, beside Shaffer and O'Connell to get more than one.

Bussy was the star of the House of David team. He yanked two beautiful drives from the ozone and gathered a pair of bingles.

BIG THONG

The crowd is said to have been the largest that ever assembled at Murpjby-st park. The estimate of 3,600 is conservative. Some placed it at 4,000. The extremities of the field were lined and many stood thruout the game.

Lima now has the strongest line-up of the season. With Shaffer, Powell and Schwab added the club has a "murderers' row" which is likely to break up a game at most any time.

The second game of the Wapakoneta series will be played Sunday. Score:

THE PRESENT STATUS OF FATTY ARBUCKLE

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)

THE next time you hear someone say, "I don't care what others think about me, I'll do what I please," answer him or her with "Remember Fatty Arbuckle!"

Fatty Arbucke is ostracised from the American screen not by Will Hays, but by the force of public opinion.

The producers and distributors of Hays's last pictures promised Hays that they would not sell the product they had bought from him.

However, there are a number of producers and distributors who do not belong to the Hays' organization. These could handle some of Arbuckle's old pictures, or engage him to make new ones, but since Arbuckle is taboo with the organized producers the public generally looks upon him as a forbidden character. Film men outside the Hays organization are afraid to buck this popular conception.

Arbucke now plans to make comedies in the Orient for exhibition there and in Europe where he still retains box office popularity.

These films may be released in America by some distributor outside the Hays organization. If they are successful it will mean that organized film men will welcome the prodigal Fatty, for if Arbuckle once proves that the public wishes to see him, producers and distributors wil be guided by public opinion.

* * *

THIS explanation of the status of Arbuckle is offered because his true position is not definitely understood by the public. More inquiries concerning the standing of Arbuckle are received by film offices and film editors than about any other subject. That in itself indicates the public is vitally interested in Arbuckle's case.

Splendid Picture Is "One Clear Call"

IF YOU if are in any way able to stand wear and tear on your emotions, "One Clear Call" is a picture not to miss seeing. Yes, indeed, it has a moral, but a moral so exquisitely coated and presented that you are grateful to the producers for it. Acting, above all else, is especially fine in the picture. So whether you grudge a tear or not you really must see the production.

You know the old adage about there being "so much bad in the best of us, and so much good in the worst of us that it hardly behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us," haven't you? Well, that's the primary subject of the picture in question, with a man supposed to be very, very bad, a physician known to be very, very good; and a beautiful and tender woman, and a lady of mystery; a tiny boy and an adorable old couple to act the story for the screen.

Your appreciation of the film will be twice as great if you do not know what it's all about. Hence, says she, we tell you naught. Just be assured that if you enjoy fine work and acting, it is there for the asking at the Sigma, where "One Clear Call" is being exhibited.

Henry B. Walthall, always a popular actor, is immense in the role of Henry Garnett; Milton Sills and Irene Rich also decidedly well cast, and Claire Windsor as Faith, the lady of mystery, will quite intrigue you.

"One Clear Call" is well produced from every angle. Take it in and see a really meritorious film.

"Manslaughter" Approaches Film Perfection

CECIL B. DeMILLE'S latest film opus, "Manslaughter" more nearly aproaches technical perfection than any photoplay seen this season.

First of all the story is a simple one. It deals with a rich girl who has a mania for speed, in both cars and social pursuit. Fleeing from a motor cycle cop, she causes his death in a wreck. Her fiancee is district atorney. He prosecutes her and convicts her of manslaughter, for which she is sent to prison.

Associating with other prisoners, she comes to realize the shallowness of the life she had hitherto led, and comes to know her true, womanly self. But in the meantime her fiancee, realizing that he has sent his heart to jail, chucks his career and takes to drink. The girl comes out of jail, finds him and reforms him. Simple, interesting theme, isn't it?

Mr. DeMille has introduced, during the filming of the story, scenes of Roman debauchery which give a spectacular flare to the film. That's his manner of telling a story. These scenes of bacchanale are splendid, appearing almost like animated tapestries, made beautiful with comprehensive grouping, lighting and shadowing for which Mr. DeMille is justly famous. Altho these scenes are interpolated during the dramatic action of the piece, they detract very little from the story.

Leatrice Joy has assured her future by her excellent acting in "Manslaughter." As the wealthy, reckless society leader she is beautiful, poised, and cultured. As the prison inmate she assumes a drab, colorless demeanor that at once enlists your sympathy and interest.

Thomas Meighan, as the district attorney, has one of the finest portrayals he has essayed since his role in "Male and Female," while Julia Faye, John Bowers and George Fawcett will please the most exacting by their individual characterizations.

There you have it,—simple, well told story, acting of the highest degree, and photographic perfection—all combined to make "Manslaughter" a thing of beauty, sincerity and depth.

The Quilna theatre is featuring the production again today and until Friday.

Eugene O'Brien in a New Vehicle—Lyric

WITH an appeal for practically every type of theatre goer in the city "John Smith," the new Eugene O'Brien feature appearing today at the Lyric theatre, may be truthful'y classed as an absorbing, wholesome sort of comedy-drama.

Isn't the title a nice, everyday one, after some of the flowery ones we have to contend with The title itself can almost tell you what kind of a story it is. And be it here stated that this trip, Mr. O'Brien has been more fortunate than he has been for quite some time, that is, in the selection of a suitable story.

John Smith, the hero of the story, goes to prison to atone for a deed which he had never committed, but because the culprit is one very near and dear to him, he prefers the long, dreary prison stretch to the idea of telling his secret.

Emerging at last, he seeks a position, and in time becomes a trusted employee. But a series of criminal happenings, among them a robbery and a murder, fasten their clutches upon him, and—but to tell the plot would only be to detract from your pleasure in seeing the film. Mustn't do that.

Perhaps you have seen other films with a story much like that of "John Smith" but I hardly believe you have every seen a characterization more human, more wholesome and withal more delightful than that which Mr. O'Brien gives in the title role. His leading lady, a certain Miss Mary Astor, is an accomplished, pleasing little body, while others in the cast are of the best.

So you see, "John Smith" is of good quality, all wool and a yard wide. If I were you, I'd see it. Just a suggestion, you know.

At the Lyric again today and Tuesday.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos, contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless) and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonsful of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. —Adv.

The Cleanest Farms In Any Community

FORDSON farms have that reputation. Early fall plowing is what keeps these farms free of weeds.

"That's easy to talk about, but how are you going to plow when the ground is so hard and dry, and the weather so hot that a team can't work?" That, probably is your objection to the formula.

"Use a Fordson-Oliver Plowing Outfit," is the answer. Heat and hard soil and dry weather don't bother a bit when you use Fordson power instead of horses. Early fall plowing with a Fordson tractor and an Oliver No. 7 plow will enable you to turn over the soil the time you know it will do the most good.

Over 200,000 Fordson Farmers Use Oliver Tillage Implements

400 MARKS NOW SELL FOR $1

Purchases Are Called Poor Speculation - by Forbes

GERMANY STILL PRINTING 'EM

Proposed Merger of Armour, Wilson Companies Not Dropped

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK—(Special)—In reply to many questions, from both big and little people.

Moons ago I wrote: "Those who buy marks are easy marks." I still feel exactly the same way, even tho you can now buy 1,400 marks for a dollar.

Germany thinks nothing of adding twenty thousand million marks—twenty billions—to her paper currency in one week. In fact, the cables announce she is now ready to print seven billion marks a day. So long as she can get deluded foreign suckers to pay more for marks than they cost to print, she is likely to keep her printing presses running twenty-four hours a day.

I would call the German mark the poorest speculation now in vogue.

* * *

Altho you hear no more about it, the idea of bringing about a merger of Armour and Company and Wilson and Company has not been dropped, I am told.

Samuel McRoberts, president of the Metropolitan Trust Co. of New York, and who at one time was treasurer of Armour and Company, is one of those keenly interested; Philip D. Armour, vice president of Armour and Company, is a director of the McRoberts institution and Mr. McRoberts has always been highly regarded by J. Ogden Armour, head and front and shoulders of the great packing house established by his father.

From a strictly personnel point of view, a combination of J. Ogden Armour and Thomas E. Wilson organizations would be peculiarly happy, as Mr. Armour has reached an age when he would make an ideal chief executive, in the position of chairman of the board, while Tom Wilson is young enough and vigorous enough and ambitious enough to make an ideal president.

Canadian dollars, for the first time in years, last week brought 100 cents of American money. This is another way of saying that American dollars brought no premium in Canada.

It will be a good thing for the world when the currencies of all leading nations are restored to a stable, normal basis. Quite a few nations, however, will have to establish an entirely new "normal" for their currency.

Going down to the docks to have lunch with a friend on board the Anchor Liner Algeria, I had two surprises, one in the form of pig iron, the other, well read on.

Climbing up the gangway, I noticed that tons and tons and tons of pig iron were being unloaded. Pig iron, I discovered, has been brought into this country from Britain to the tune of thousands of tons during recent weeks. Apparently, the scarcity of coal and the scarcity of railway transportation made it attractive and profitable to bring pig iron across the Atlantic. I confess the feeling I had was that it looked like carrying coals to Newcastle to bring pig iron to this greatest of all iron producing countries.

On entering the captain's palatial quarters the most palatial I have ever seen on any ship, the explanation being that they were constructed with a view to carrying the Emperor and Empress of Germany on a voyage, the ship having been originally the "Kigoma," a German vessel, entering these quarters I asked what had stained the crimson carpet. Well, what do you think it was?

The "Kigoma" used to lie in the Kiel canal to house Germans returning from marauding expeditions in submarines. Submarine operations became so dangerous and so unbearable that those condemned to this duty laid their heads together and decided to mutiny. It was arranged that all favoring mutiny should drop a coin into one receptacle. Twenty five didn't drop the coin.

The mutineers first proceeded to the captain's quarters and shot him where he stood. After shooting the other officers, they strung up the other twenty five.

When the mutineers were later overpowered, forty five of them were lined up towards the bow of the boat and shot.

Altho the carpet has been washed and cleaned several times the spot where the captain fell is still plainly visible.

Incidentally, altho the "Kigoma" was built months before the war started, she was all fitted up ready for the installation of armaments.

You never know when you are going to bump up against adventure do you?

Stinnes, Germany's super-man, is discovering that it is one thing to run lines of steamships, iron mines, coal mines and another thing to run newspapers. He has just had his pet paper temporarily suppressed by the government.

Every now and again I hear weird, mysterious tales about the machinations of Stinnes. One such tale is that he has been the arch schemer for flooding the rest of the world with German paper money, his idea being to have this "money" declared worthless after foreigners have been fleeced to the limit, thus getting deluded foreigners to pay a large share of Germany's war debts. From all accounts, millions of Americans and other people have exchanged good money for Germany's bad.

Trying to get something for nothing, or next to nothing, usually turns out badly in the end.

CAPT. HARNETT DEAD

WESTERVILLE — Captain James W. Harnett, U. S. Navy, retired, died at his home here. He was knighted by the King of England and decorated by the King of Norway for rescuing sailors of a wrecked ship.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO — Prospects of a peaceful settlement with the Turks led to a moderate setback in wheat prices today during the early dealings. Sellers were by no means aggressive, tho, and seemed disposed to await further developments before acting on the basis that the likelihood of war had been eliminated altogether. Heavy marketing of wheat in Canada received considerable notice of an additional bearish factor. The opening which ranged from 1-4 to 1 1-2 lower with December $1.04 1-2 to $1.05 and May $1.08 3-4 to 1.09, was followed by a slight rally and then by a downturn somewhat below the initial figures.

Large receipts of corn together with talk of diminished danger of damage from frost tended to ease the market for corn and oats. After opening 1-4 to 3-4 lower, December 58 1-8 to 58 1-2, corn prices recovered a little.

Oats started 1-4 to 3-8 at 1-2 lower, December 36 5-8, rallied a trifle, and then sagged lower than before.

Higher quotations on hogs gave strength to the provision market.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—The upward movement prices was resumed at the opening of today's stock market. Gulf states Steel was pushed up over three points to a new high record for the year, some of the recent buying being attributed to a group of Birmingham bankers.

St. Joseph Lead and Owens Bottle also advanced more than a point to new peak prices. While the buying extended over most of the list, high grade rail, oil, chemical, equipment and public utility shares were most in demand. Atchison led the advance in rails with a gain of two points and material improvement was noted in Southern Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Standard Oil of New Jersey resumed leadership of the oil group, mounting nearly 2 points while Royal Dutch advanced one and gains of substantial fractions were recorded by Mexican Petroleum and Pan-American. Consolidated and People's Gas shares each climbed a point and were followed into higher ground by Davison, Allied and American Agricultural Chemical. Other individual strong spots included Crucible, American Woolen and Famous Players, each up a point or more.

Other speculative leaders in which a fairly large short interest is supposed to exist, fell into line with the upward movement in Gulf States Steel that stock extending its gain to nearly five points. Country-wide reports of increased retail business found expression in the demand for merchandising shares, Kresge jumping five points to a new 1922 high, Woolworth climbing 6 1-2 and May Department Stores 2. Some unsettlement took place at midday, when Mexican Petroleum was subjected to pressure on rumors of additional oil taxes, that stock dropping 2 3-4 below Saturday's close. Republic Steel, Rock Island, American Smelting, United Retail Stores, and Willys-Overland preferred also yielded to professional selling, the declines ranging from one to two points. Call money opened and renewed at five per cent.

POULTRY PRICES DROP ON WHOLESALE MARKET

Reductions of two and three cents in prices of poultry featured the Lima wholesale market Monday. Leghorn and heavy broilers slipped to 14 and 19 cents per pound respectively, while heavy hens eased off to 19 and lights to 14.

WOMAN ARRESTED

Taken as Suspect in Bond Theft Plot

DALLAS — United Press(— Authorities here believed today they were on the trail of leaders in a nation-wide bond theft plot.

A woman was arrested here today in connection with recent bond robberies which are said to have amounted to between $250,000 and $300,000.

The woman, a pretty blonde, was taken by deputies when she arrived from Tulsa, Okla. This followed the arrest of a man and a woman at a local hotel Saturday night, in connection with the case.

LOSSES EXPECTED BY REPUBLICAN CHIEFS

WASHINGTON.—Confidence that the Republicans would have a majority of 60 in the next house was expressed today by Representative Wood, Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, during a conference on the political situation with President Harding.

Mr. Wood said the Republicans undoubtedly would sustain losses but that the outlook for the party was brighter than a month or so ago.

Mr. Wood regarded it as a certainty that President Harding would not make any political speeches in connection with the congressional campaign. Members of the cabinet however are expected to participate in states were the result is likely to be close.

CONDITIONS AT HOSPITAL ATTACKED BY LEGION

WASHINGTON.—Alleged schoking conditions at the Iren Byron Hospital, near Fort Wayne, Ind., where 33 veterans afflicted with tuberculosis alleged to have been "farmed out" by the government for treatment, were denounced by the American Legion here today.

A group of Legion investigators recently visited the hospital and found, a report by the Legion states, that despite modern equipment and ideal location, veterans were treated with lack of sympathy. The building in which the veterans were cared for, it is alleged, was dirty Swarms of flies invaded the rooms where dying patients lay; clouds of dust from an excavation blew into the rooms and food conditions were bad, the Legion investigators reported.

Hamid Bey, representative of the Angora government, declared Sunday the allied invitation to the peace conference could not be accepted by the Turkish Nationalists on the terms laid down.

Many of the bullish features in the stock market situation have been dilated at length of late and it is thought they have exerted the greater part of their force as constructive price-making factors, consequently it is the better part of wisdom to utilize bulges to realize some profits on long holdings.

Idle cars on September 8 totaled 43,168, or 27,287 less than on August 31.

Twenty industrial stocks averaged 99.10; up, .65. Twenty rails averaged 91.88, up, .52.

The general market is displaying a tendency to harden on declines in a number of departments, and it is reported to be reflecting signs of overselling in certain industrials. Professionals continue to go short on rallies, but the buying an reactions shows a better quality.

Following the pending dissolution of the Consolidated Steel corporation export organization of the independent steel makers, the formation of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, to handle its export business, is believed to forecast the creation of other export concerns by the Republic-Midvale combination.

The United States Department of Agriculture in its last bulletin estimates the world production of wheat as 3,019,526,000 bushels, 40,070,000 less than in 1921.

The fact that the wheat market is out of the rut will bring increased support, it is believed, and advantage should be taken of declines to make purchases.

December wheat closed one and a half lower on the Liverpool market.

HOME DYNAMITED

Spurned Suitor Held in Case at Akron

AKRON.—(Associated Press).—Police of Barberton, are holding a 50-year-old man, said to be a spurned suitor, for further questioning on the dynamiting of the home of Mrs. Minnie N. Gowin, 53, a widow, at 11 p. m. Sunday.

Mrs. Gowin and a son, sleeping in the front of the home, were awakened by the crash in the rear. The back room was wrecked.

The man, whose name police are keeping secret, pending a second grilling, is said by neighbors to have quarreled with the widow a few days ago.

WILL ATTACKED

Relatives Seek Bliss Fortune, Left to Widow

CHICAGO. — (United Press).—Charging that Mrs. Helen M. Welck Bliss, widow of Colonel Samuel Eugene Bliss, steel magnate, was "too uncouth and graceless to succeed with anybody but a demented old man," relatives of Bliss today sought to break his will which gave his $2,000,000 fortune to his widow.

Mrs. Bliss was for years stenographer to the steel magnate. The action brought by Admund Albert Bliss, a brother, and Ernest W. Bliss, a nephew. The petition charges that Mrs. Bliss used novel and unusual means to ingratiate herself with Bliss, who died about a year ago.

"For fourteen years Mrs. Welck proved to Bliss that she was more economical than he was," the petition charged, "until finally she wooed him from his first wife and married him."

FROST FORECAST

Warning is Sounded by Weather Bureau

COLUMBUS.—(Associated Press). —The first frost warning of the fall was sounded today by the weather bureau in its forecast this morning. The forecast said:

Fair tonight and Tuesday; light frost in exposed places.

Tho this is the first warning of frost given by the weather bureau, frosts already have been reported from various sections of the state.

5 MINERS KILLED

Victims of Accident in West Virginia Pit

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(United Press)—Officials of the Raleigh-Wyoming Coal Company today were without details of the accident at the Glen Rogers mine yesterday, in which five miners were killed when an elevator fell.

Glen Rokgers lacks telephone and telegraph communication and officials here could only surmise how the fatalities occurred.

"Skip fell in shaft, five men killed," signed by the Raleigh-Wyoming Mine company was the only direct message received here. County officials at Beckley confirmed the report but knew none of the miners' names or details.

The Glen Rogers mine is operated on a non-union basis. Reports that miner faction differences were responsible were emphatically repudiated by company officials here.

BACKS ACCUSED

Woman Claims Story of Convicted Slayer is True

NEW CASTLE, Pa.— (Associated Press.) — Mrs. Rae Muirhead, policewoman, today gave out a sworn statement declaring that Clara Bell Lennox, for whose murder Verne Ryhal is awaiting electrocution October 2, before her death, corroborated Ryhal's story that the girl was killed by accident.

Mrs. Muirhead went on a trip to California before Ryhal's trial and did not testify.

Her deposition says that the girl who lay unconscious for days after she had been found in a clump of bushes near New Castle, roused before her death and made statements fitting in with Ryhal's story that the girl was helping him fix his automobile when a spinning wheel threw a stick against her head. Ryhal said he was afraid he would be charged with attacking the girl, so dragged her into the bushes and fled.

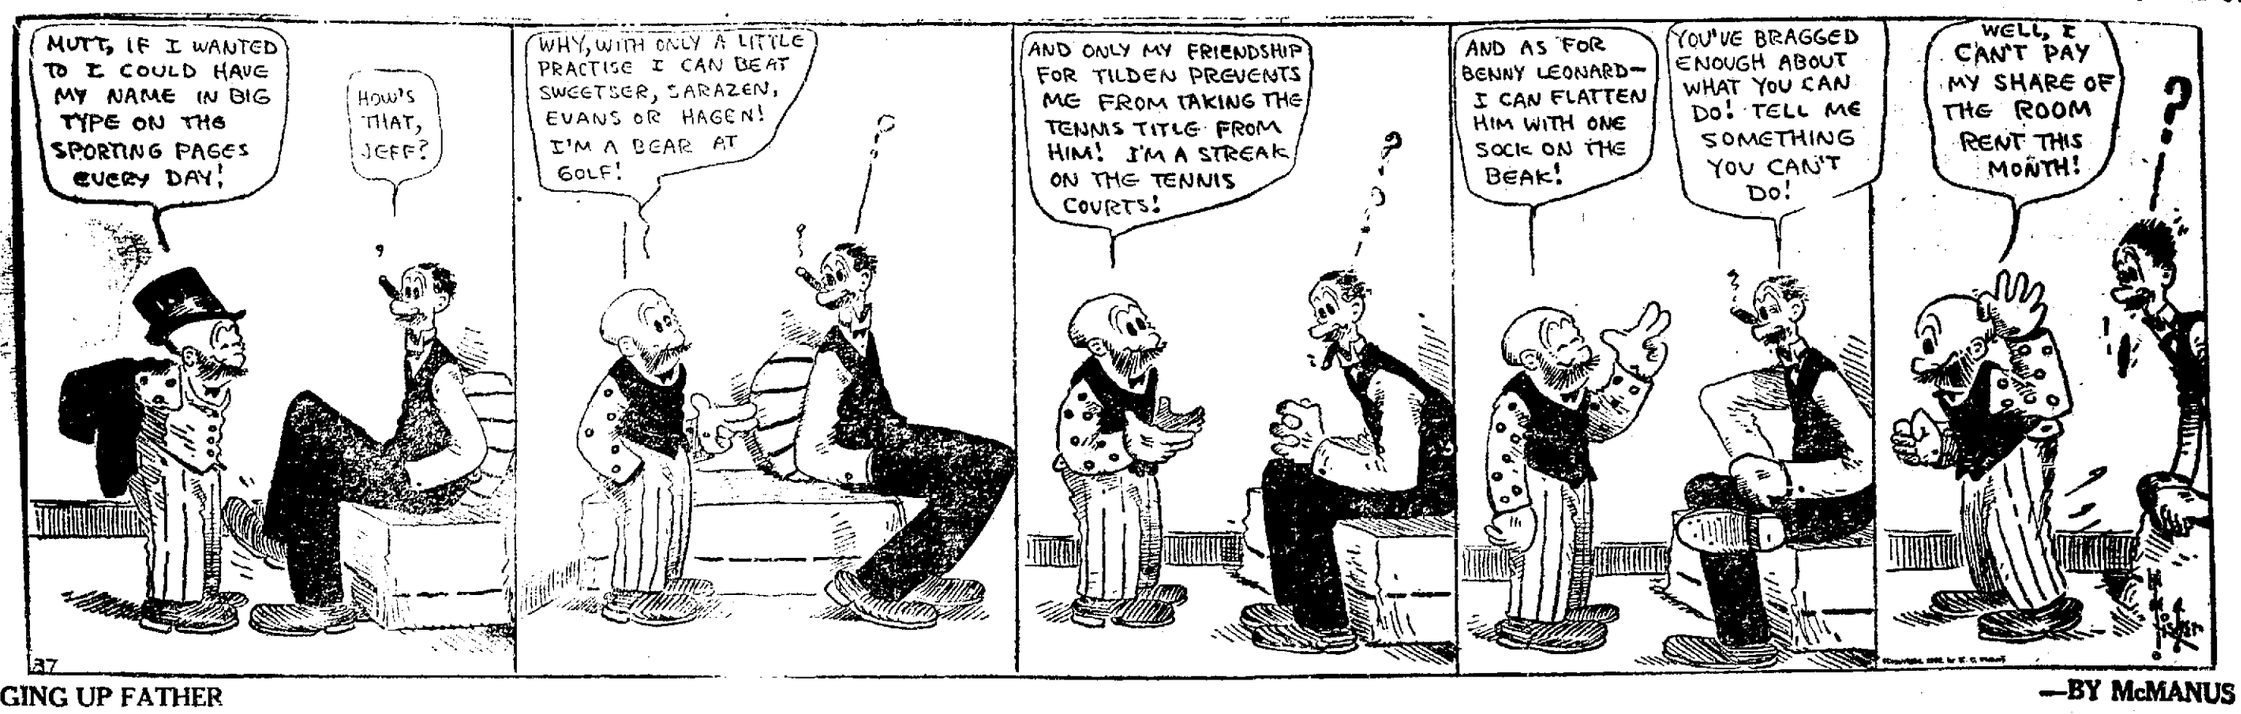
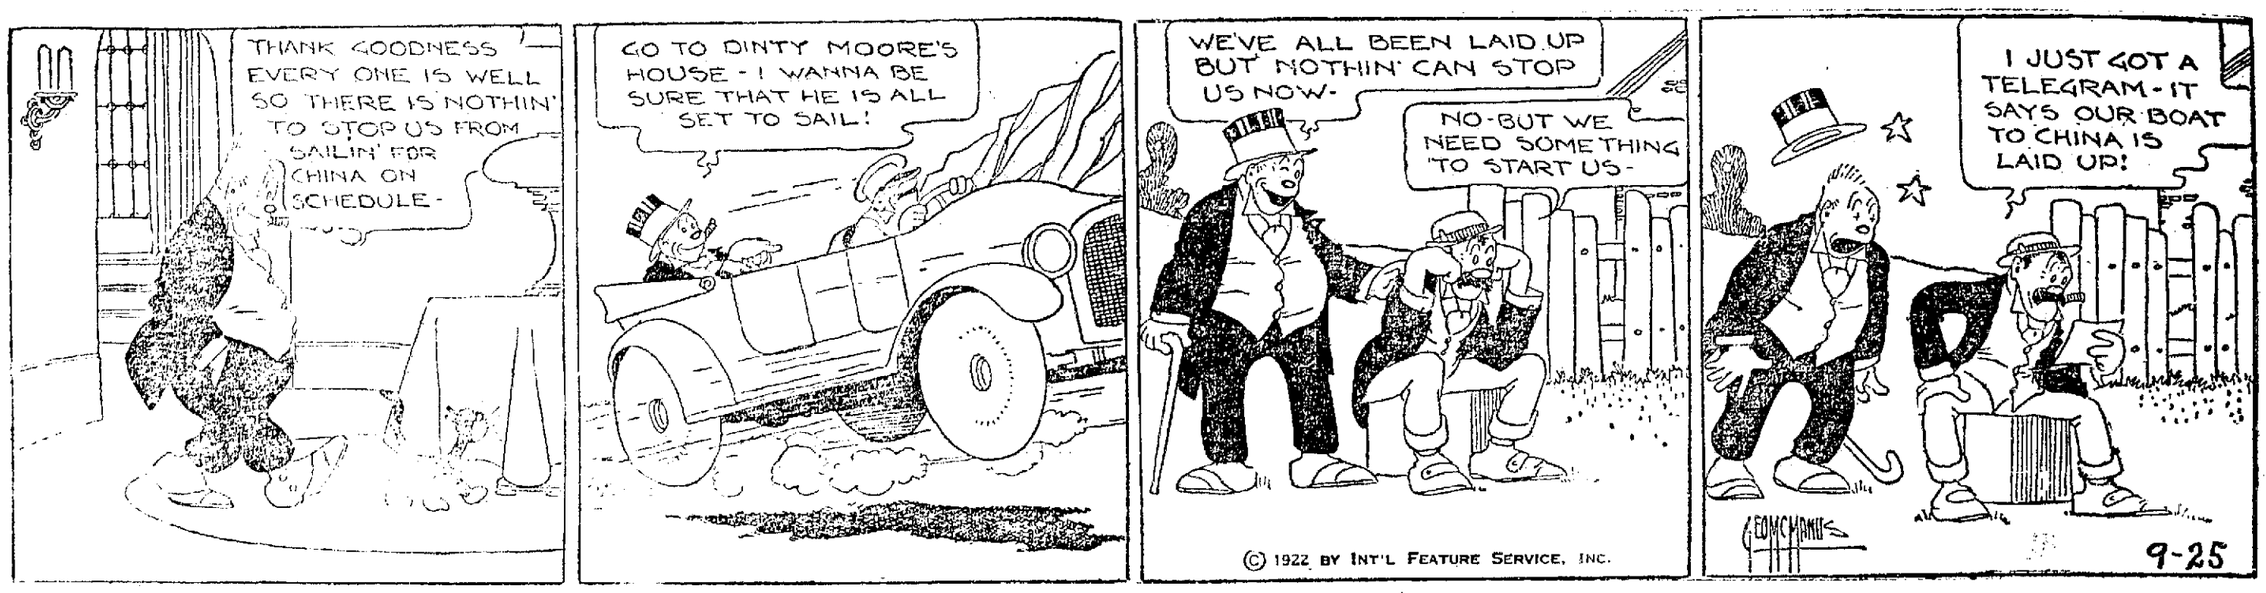
MUTT AND JEFF—THAT PUTS THE RESPONSIBILITY ON MUTT— By BUD FISH



BRINGING UP FATHER —BY McMANUS



SHORT SHAVINGS

"A man in front of me," he says "was carrying a heavy suitcase. A man back of me whistled to a paper boy. The man with the suitcase thought he whistled at him. He turned around and saw a policeman. That was too much for his nerves. Clinging tight to his heavy suitcase he ran until he was out of sight."

Mrs. Ross Mullen, 1168 W. High-st, says that she stopped a newspaper boy, bought a paper and dropped four cents into his outstretched hand.

"It's only three cents, ma'am."

"Oh, well, keep the cent," said I.

"Thank you, ma'am," said the boy. "But ain't you got a nickel?"

"Bill" Chow, 110 1-2 S. Elizabeth-st, woke up in the midst of the big electrical storm that recently hit Lima.

He blinked sleepily at the lightning flashes and started to climb out of bed. "What are yo going to do?" he was asked. "Why," he said, "I'm getting up to turn off the lights."

* * *

E. R. Hanner, 802 1-2 W. North-st, was on a train recently when the man in front of him stood up to look out the window at a balloon afloat in the air. Meanwhile a woman who had just boarded the train took his seat.

The man didn't notice this and sat down in her lap. All the others in the coach laughed. The giggling continued until the balloon guy decided he wanted a smoke and escaped into the smoker.

H. J. Ridge, county farm agent, is said to have used giant corn stalks from his own corn field as posts for a fence around his chicken yard. This is said to have attracted more agriculturists there than anything since the death of a little Jersey cow owned by Jim Wilson.

She gave so much milk they used a tub to milk her in, and she was so small that when he went to the house to get someone to help him carry in the tub the cow fell into it and drowned.

ANOTHER LIMA CASE

John McGuff, 205 S. Pine St., says: "I had a sharp catch in the small of my back. My muscles were stiff and lame and I could hardly walk. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought some at Cunningham's Drug Store. In a few days I was able to work. My back was strong and my kidneys acted normally."

Carey BUILT-UP ROOFS

Made from the greatest water-proofing material ever discovered

ASPHALT

ASPHALT roofs are being more and more widely used on the finest commercial buildings of the most permanent type because they are giving better results.

Carey Asphalt is tempered in the process of manufacture to a melting point of 225 degrees.

Consequently Asphalt does not melt and run into the gutter in hot weather. It does not require a coating of slag or gravel to save it from the sun or prevent it from quickly drying out.

There are many Carey prepared asphalt roofs in different parts of the country that are still giving good service after thirty years of exposure.

The three, four and five layer built up roofs we recommend are naturally much more durable than the prepared type.
